Health is the difference between what you know you owe and what you think you've got.

Maybe there's a touch of envy but I've got to admit our boys have talents. When a delegation of Girl Scouts came through the Star plant yesterday they worked their way back to the Newsboys Room — and the surprised lads let go with a chorus of whistles. Which reminded me that, (1) in my time they were called Camp Fire Girls, and (2) I never could whistle.

The man in the street gets fed with editorials, radio commentators and speech-makers talking about "balancing the federal budget" — but do you know what the other side of the story is?

Let's assume that you honestly believe it's unimportant whether the government lives within its income or not. You may not know it, but you are making yourself out to be a very arrogant fellow.

Our ancestors were humble people who lived anxiously between the hope of good times and the fear of bad times. Individually they tried to live within their income and save money. They controlled the government — because their money was payable in gold, if they wanted it; and any time a profligate government started squandering the people's wealth the individual citizen could pull the politicians up short by demanding gold.

But the government took gold away from the people — and with that action the power to balance the budget, which formerly rested with individual citizens, passed to the politicians.

Now when the power that used to belong to millions suddenly turns up in the hands of a few, those few are apt to grow arrogant. They make new and strange speeches. They say:

"The private citizen has to live within his income, but government doesn't. For by the art of written law we can do what no men have done before us in the history of the world — we can turn prosperity on or off like an electric light."

They are very arrogant fellows, aren't they? Are you one of them?

Perhaps you think I'm painting an extreme picture of the politicians. But I have in front of me an Associated Press report of an interview yesterday with Senator Douglas, Illinois Democrat, a man of unquestioned integrity but whose aims seem to be quite uncertain. Here's a piece of the interview:

"We are adding steadily to the inflationary trend with a deficit that is running half a billion dollars a month," Douglas said.

"He suggested that the Federal Reserve Board wait a month or two to see how the price trend progresses. If the prices still are going up then, he said the board ought to sell securities in the open market to force government bonds down slightly."

"I would hope that the Treasury, on the other hand, wouldn't insist on supporting bond prices and would let them fall slightly," he said.

"Turn it on — or off — like an electric light."

And there's even a quarrel in high places about whose hand is on the switch.

Does that mean anything to you — whose ancestors distrusted the ability of mortal men to control the wind and the rain... and who if you'd told 'em Washington has learned how to make times good or bad, would have retorted that you were crazy?

But there's a cure for this arrogance. Make government live within its income — and delusions of grandeur will vanish for the politicians just as quickly as they vanish for you and me.

Rambo's Tip Disproved by Officers

Kansas City, June 14 — (P)—A man and a woman questioned in connection with a Jonesboro, Ark., bank robbery have been released by police.

The two are Dolly Dilly, 48, and Don Edward Miller, 36, both of Benton, Mo.

They were arrested Sunday after Leroy Rambo, held by Arkansas authorities as an escaped Florida convict and in connection with a series of assaults, robberies and kidnappings, said Miller had told him of the robbery.

The couple denied knowledge of the robbery.

Police said their photographs were sent to Jonesboro. Since no hold request was received from Arkansas, the pair was released yesterday.

The Peoples National bank at Jonesboro was robbed of more than $18,000 by a lone gunman several weeks ago.

Station Plans 26th Annual Study Series

Farm people from all parts of south west Arkansas are expected to converge on the University of Arkansas' Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station, here, on June 20 and July 1, according to Cecil M. Bittle, assistant director in charge. The station's main Study Day will be on Friday June 30, and a study day for Negroes will be held on July 1.

The 85-acre station, which is located slightly northeast of Hope on U. S. Highway 87, was established in 1927. This year's event will be its twenty-second annual Study Day, Mr. Bittle reports.

The same program will be followed on Friday and Saturday morning. Featured on the tour of the station will be an exhibit of 15 new peach varieties adapted to the area, a demonstration on supplemental irrigation, discussions of new developments in the production of small fruits and vegetables, and a summary of 13 years' research in the station woodlot. Members of the College of Agriculture staff will lead the discussions.

From 11 until 1, visitors will have an opportunity to attend three special demonstrations. The rearrangement of kitchen and bathroom in two homes on the station will be described by Mrs. Flora Friend, southwest district agent, and Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, Hemsford County home demonstration agent with the Extension Service.

Charles G. Lincoln extension economist, will demonstrate cotton insect control in 1950. The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission will also stage a special display on wildlife.

Guest speaker on Friday afternoon's program will be the Reverend William B. Oglesby, Jr., pastor of the Pulaski Heights Presbyterian Church in Little Rock. He will discuss "Spiritual Values for the afternoon gathering in the amphitheatre are a welcome by Mr. Bittle and community singing."

On Saturday afternoon M. B. Tolson of Langston University, Oklahoma, and Mrs. T. S. Kyle of A. M. and N. College in Pine Bluff, will speak.

Paints Pretty Picture for U. S. Worker

Washington, June 14 — (P)—The committee for economic development (CED) said today that prospects are good for a doubling of the real income, or buying power, of the average American worker in the next 3 years.

To do so, the businessmen's planning organization said, ways must be found to keep production per man-hour rising at the same average rate as in the past half-century.

The CED offered a formula for boosting real wages to $2.66 an hour in 1981, in terms of 1949 prices, as against the average worker's $1.33 today and the average of 43 cents 50 years ago.

Stabilizing industrial growth to avoid blighting recessions, increasing imports, and reforming the tax system to encourage risk-taking investment were among the recommended measures.

"Success in raising real wages is in the main a matter of increasing output per man-hour," said the statement prepared by CED's research and policy committee and issued by the CED chairman, Marion B. Folsom, treasurer and director of the Eastern Kodak Co. "It is also a matter of keeping people steadily at work."

The three-fold increase in the buying power of the average worker since 1900 has been built on a gain in productivity of two and one-half per cent a year. The output per man per hour has risen from 50.5 cents to about $1.83, in dollars of 1949 buying power, the statement said.

"Future advances will not be rapid," CED said, "unless we have many important scientific discoveries, good management in industry, and wise public policies."

It found that the outlook for "rapid technological progress is good" in view of a nine-fold increase in industrial research in the last decade. Workers are becoming better trained and more able each year, it stated, and the prospects are bright for improvement of management.

None Injured in 3-Way Wreck

A three-way accident on North Hazel street at noon today resulted in no injuries, City Police announced.

The accident involved an automobile driven by John McLeod, another owned by Jack Cannon and a concrete mixer truck owned by P. A. Lewis. Both cars were badly damaged.

Number of Polio Cases in Arkansas Slightly Lower

Little Rock, June 14 — (P)—With six new cases reported last week, this year's polio total in Arkansas has reached 34. The total at a corresponding date in 1949 was 42.

The state health department, which reported the figures, said two cases last week were in Pulaski county. The others were in Lawrence, Mississippi, Phillips, and St. Francis counties.

Spring Freezes Take Toll on Arkansas Crops

Little Rock, June 14 (P)—Extensive damage to the 1950 Arkansas peach crop by April freezes was reported today.

Large increases over 1949 were reported in strawberry and spinach production but smaller yields are expected in most other crops. The crop reporting service said peaches were all but wiped out in the northwest area of the state severely damaged in the Crowley-Ridge section of east Arkansas and hurt to a lesser extent in the Clarksville-Lamar and Nashville-Highland areas.

Also, rain has interfered with spraying of orchards. Peaches which survived, however, are expected to size well and be of superior quality, the report said.

On June 1, Arkansas peach production for this year was estimated at 1,728,000 bushels, compared to 2,412,000 bushels in 1949. The year's crop, if as small as expected, will be the shortest since 1943.

The monthly crop report also showed:

Farmers are harvesting an out crop of 6,318,000 bushels, compared to last year's 6,642,000.

This year's winter wheat crop now is placed at 304,000 bushels, compared to 390,000 produced in 1949.

Production of snap beans for fresh market in Arkansas is forecast at 90,000 bushels 42 per cent less than last year, reflecting adverse weather conditions earlier in the season.

Indications are that the 1950 Arkansas cantaloup crop will be 98,000 jumbo crates, 11 per cent below last year's production.

A fresh market cucumber crop of 114,000 bushels was in prospect on June 1. The 1949 production was 188,000 bushels, but only 110,000 bushels were harvested.

Only 234,000 bushels of commercial early Irish potatoes are expected to be produced in the state this season, the shortest crop since 1924. Last year's crop was estimated at 298,000 bushels and the ten-year average production is 461,000 bushels.

This year's spinach average production increased to 89,000 bushels from last year's 58,000 but was below the ten-year average of 105,000.

Arkansas Strawberry growers produced 799,000 crates this year. It was the largest crop since 1942 and compared to a 1949 harvest of 528,000 crates. The ten-year average is 387,000.

A watermelon crop of 1,120,000 melons is now in prospect, compared to 1,218,000 last year and a ten-year average of 1,105,000.

The weekly crop bulletin, issued at the same time, said the state's cotton crop is in fair to good condition although much of it is late. Very little rice remains to be seeded, the report said, and soybeans are making good growth.

An Old Theory Is Exploded — Finds Different Cultures Enrich American Life

BY HAL BOYLE

New York — (P)— Is the theory of the American melting pot wrong?

Dr. Rachel Davis Dubois, a South Jersey Quaker who has pioneered in developing techniques for intercultural relations, believes it erred in one respect.

"The melting pot theory, as it was interpreted years ago," she said, "meant that people coming here would cut themselves off from their cultural pasts."

"There was a pressure to think alike, do alike, and be alike. That would make our American culture then indeed."

And what troubled Mrs. Dubois most was that children of minority groups grew up secretly or openly ashamed of the ways and customs of their parents. This created tension at home and at school.

The answer? Mrs. Dubois felt it lay in creating a feeling of pride in the child for his own cultural background, and a feeling of respect for the differing cultures of others.

She got an opportunity to test her beliefs in action several years ago at P. S. 165, a public school in upper West Manhattan attended by children of 48 different nationalities. It was a tension area, and the melting pot wasn't melting very well. After two children were killed near the school, the aroused parent-teachers association asked Dr. Dubois for help.

"I thought if I could just get the children to understand each other's background, the tension would be reduced," she said.

But how to do it? Preaching tolerance to children doesn't work any better than preaching it to grownups. Dr. Dubois' solution was "the parranda."

"The parranda in Puerto Rico," Mrs. Dubois explained, "is a kind of progressive party in which people go from one house to another."

She worked out a program under which a dozen once a week would go from house to house from noon until 3 o'clock. During this time they had lunch at the home of one parent and went on to dessert at the home of another. The first home might be Finnish or Puerto Rican. The second night be Irish or Jewish.

"In each home," she said children sample the food, sing songs, engage in games and dances and learn about the customs of their races.

"A teacher goes along, but just as another participant. The kids think of it as a real party. No sermons against prejudice are made. They experience brotherhood — so there is no need for talking about it."

After each parranda the children report to their social studies classes what they have learned. The parrandas have proved so popular with both children and parents that Mrs. Dubois has undertaken a similar program at another tension area school.

Here is what a few students have written about the parrandas in their own school paper:

"We may do things differently but we do them for the same reasons."

"You thought at first you did not like them, but you found out differently after you met the people."

"We are more alike than different."

$100,000 Bogus Money Made Monthly

Washington, June 14 — (P)— The chief of the U. S. Secret service has told congress that a New York and Chicago gang is turning out counterfeit money at the rate of 100,000 a month.

The testimony came from U. E. Baughman who urged lawmakers to add 31 new agents to his staff of 176 men who are tracking down counterfeiters and forgers.

"Additional men and equipment are urgently needed to fight this criminal activity effectively to prevent cashiers and storekeepers from losing hundreds of thousands of dollars," Baughman said.

He said counterfeiting is being done in St. Louis, Mo., and a couple of other areas but the center of counterfeiting is in New York and Chicago.

He said unfortunately the Chicago and New York groups have so-called criminal connections — distributors. Anyone that has a criminal tie in another section apparently can go to these cities and purchase a certain amount of counterfeit notes, and then go off to an era and pass them."

The senate crime investigating committee, headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), has been promised the full cooperation of the treasury department. Its investigators are expected to dig into this situation.

Baughman said "more and more criminals are turning to counterfeiting." Most of them, he said, are the black marketeers of World War II who turned out phony OPA stamps.

Baughman said secret service agents captured more than $1,000,000 in counterfeit money last year of which $338,000 was in circulation. In the first five months of this year the seizure totaled $550,000 of which $383,080 was in circulation.

The senate crime investigators currently are centering their attention on a police report that a big Missouri gambling house solicited business by direct mail advertising.

Group Named to Study Red River Work

Washington, June 14 — (P)— President Truman today setup a new committee to push development of plans for improving water and land resources in the Arkansas, White and Red river basins.

Representatives of six government agencies will form the committee, which was authorized under the 1950 flood control law. The agencies are the army engineers, agriculture, interior and commerce departments, power commission and federal security agency.

Regular meetings are to be held monthly at points within the basins. The governors of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri will be asked to sit in. Their states are entirely or partly in the area drained by the three rivers.

Three Youths Indicted for Bank Theft

Memphis, Tenn., June 14 — (P)— A federal grand jury has indicted three youths in connection with the theft of $1,244.82 from the farmers' bank of Trimble, Tenn., April 4.

Lee Austin Wright, 22 and Ed Baker, Jr., 18, were indicted yesterday on a charge of burglary. Barnell Bell, 19, also of Trimble, was indicted on a charge that he received, possessed and concealed $950 of the money.

The trio is to be arraigned in federal court here Friday.

Says Peace With Power Only Way

Philadelphia, June 14 — (P)— Secretary of the Air Force Thomas K. Finletter told a graduating class today it can hope for a world without war only if America pursues a policy of peace through power.

Finletter spoke at commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania.

For prevention of war, he said in his prepared speech, we need a force so strong, so capable of violent counter attack, as to deter any nation bent on breaking peace.

And for the immediate future, he sees a need for continuing to increase the fighting strength of the United States and her Allies, because "the curve of military power is rising everywhere."

The air secretary didn't point to any new turns ahead.

He said the world is in a state of foreign and military tension. Mainly, he tried to give young people just getting out of college an understanding of why we are arming when we want peace. He said:

"Already this conflict of ideas — the need to prepare for war when in fact we want peace — is confusing some of our citizens. The power of a modern military establishment is appalling; and to give us further pause, the role of defense now consists in major part of counter attack."

Finletter didn't speak of definite numbers of guns, and planes and bombs. He didn't speak of casualties by name. But he talked of "our enemies" as straight out enemies, not probable or possible ones.

Erickson to Go on Trial Monday

New York, June 14 — (UP)— Gambler Frank Erickson was ordered today to stand trial next Monday over the protests of his attorney that the question of bookmaking should not "throw a court into a frenzy."

Justice Nathan D. Perlman fixed the trial date requested by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan. But he said he would adjourn the case to a future date if court motions connected with the charges are not ruled on before Monday.

Erickson faces trial on 60 counts of bookmaking and conspiracy. If convicted on all counts he could get up to 60 years in prison and a $300,000 fine.

The roly-poly 54-year-old bookmaker did not appear in court.

Attorney Sol Gelb, who represented him, tried without success to obtain a three-month delay. Assistant District Attorney Whitman Knapp replied that "when a man goes before the senate of the United States and boasts he has violated laws in 48 states since he was a boy — with the implication he can continue to do so — I say the administration of justice requires prompt action."

Gelb countered that Erickson "was bullied and threatened with contempt unless he answered questions" of the senate subcommittee. "There was no boasting. He was badly advised. He was a figure who cringed before. The senate. They dragged the world from him."

"This question of bookmaking is not one that should throw a district attorney or a court into a frenzy," Gelb added. "It is more a social problem."

Baptist Bible School Group to Stage Play

60 ARRESTED

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, June 14 — (P)— Air force officers and army personnel were among 60 persons arrested at Recife last night as police crushed a plot for a Communist uprising throughout Brazil. Police promised further arrests. The port city of Recife was communist headquarters for Brazil until the party was outlawed in 1947.

Rent Control Filibuster in Senate Likely

Washington, June 14 — (P)— House passage of rent control bill yesterday by the house as it passed the bill 202 to 183 make it necessary for the senate to take another look, and Senator Cain (R-Wash.), who led a filibuster last week before the senate passed the bill, indicated that he wants a good, long look.

He might want to start another filibuster which conceivably could prolong final action beyond June 30, when the present rent control act expires.

Cain told newsmen he is "studying changes."

Should he decide to make the fight, he added, "I will do it in the most vigorous way and will try to get some help and proceed in the same manner I proceeded before."

The senate voted for a one-year extension of the federal rent control program, with the last six months of control affecting only those communities that request continuation from next January 31 to June 30.

The house decided to make the general extension until next January 31 — seven months, and to communities having the option of keeping controls for an additional five months instead of six.

Another change made by the house would give the municipalities aid areas of counties the right to remove controls generally by January 31. That state legislatures, many of them meeting in January would have a chance to enact local laws before the federal statute expires. And Congress could have a month in 1951 in which to take another look at the rental housing picture.

Harris Visits Friends Over the District

Congressman Oren Harris is in town visiting with friends in the County in the interest of his campaign for reelection to Congress.

Following his opening the hearing quarters at the Kalamazoo Hotel, Harris is meeting with friends in each of the counties this week in the interest of his campaign. He has a heavy schedule this week and plans to visit every County.

He will return to Washington next week for some important committee meetings and legislation that has tentatively been scheduled in the House of Representatives.

"It is anticipated the extension of the Cotton Allocation Act for 1951 and 1952 and the tax bill to repeal war excise taxes and to make other adjustments in the tax laws will be scheduled for next week," he said.

"Both of these bills are highly important."

"The present cotton allocation Act under which the farmers were given a more equitable allocation should be determined now for next year. There are certain ones in the Congress and other sections of the country who are trying to kill this program. We are basic farm commodities. To give this effort and to assure support we must try to get this up at once."

"All of our people are affected by war excise taxes and the first time we have had a real opportunity to repeal it."

Mr. Harris says the latter part of the month he will return to the district where he will actively begin his campaign.

Tuesday Proves to Be Hottest Day of Year

The summer swelter was good last yesterday when mercury climbed to 92 degrees, a record for the year. The low for the day was 70 degrees.

But according to Experiment Station records the mercury has at least 95 degrees several times before June 14, last year. The temperature failed to go past 90 last year which revealed it as the hottest day.

Today a year ago the temperature high & low 89 degrees.

McMoth's Birthday

Little Rock, June 14 — (P)— Mayor Sid McMoth celebrated his 58th birthday yesterday.

McMoth said he had a busy day with his many duties, including a luncheon at the city hall.

He will be 59 on June 15.

Soviets Also Building Up Defenses

Moscow, June 14 (AP)—The Soviet union has set aside the equivalent of $13,000,000,000—a figure based on the official value of the ruble—for defense this year.

Finance Minister Afanasyev, Zverev, announced the sum—13.3 per cent of the 1950 budget—to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) at a joint meeting of the two houses last night. Prime Minister Stalin and many members of the foreign diplomatic corps were present.

President Truman asked congress for $13,000,000,000 for U. S. defense in the fiscal year beginning July 1. His total budget was $130,000,000,000. Defense represents 10.3 per cent slice of the budget. It does not include about $5,000,000,000 government expenses growing out of past wars.

There is no easy standard to compare what the U. S. and Russian governments consider defense items.

The Russian total estimated defense budget is 70,400,000,000 rubles. The official rate of exchange is four rubles to the dollar. Some experts value the ruble's purchasing power at about five cents, or 20 to the dollar. Since the Russians officially insist it is worth 25 cents the defense appropriation figure is nominally $19,360,000,000, more than $5,000,000,000 above the U. S. figure.

Zverev said the Russian figure represents a decline in military expenditures under the pre-war year of 1940.

Zverev also disclosed a drop in expected total revenues, first since the war, which he ascribed to wide price reductions. He revealed that the Russian financial surplus will be sharply cut.

With American Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and British Minister John Nicholson in the audience, he charged their countries with aggression and said the U. S. is spending directly and indirectly $2,000,000,000 in the coming budget year for war. Zverev said the sum is more than 70 per cent of the total U. S. budget.

More than 2,000 delegates applauded Stalin, attired in uniform and looking as usual, when he took a seat in a back row of the dais, along with deputy Premier V. M. Molotov and other politburo members who are also members of parliament.

There was applause, too, when Zverev announced that the 18.3 per cent total for defense contracted with more than 32.4 per cent in 1940 and 24 per cent in 1949.

Negro Sentenced to Die for Slaying

Little Rock, June 14 (AP)—A circuit court jury deliberated only four minutes yesterday before sentencing a defendant to death in the electric chair.

He is George Ferguson, 38-year-old Negro convicted of the shotgun slaying of Duward Miller, 41, a lumber company shipping clerk, last March 8.

Miller had discharged Ferguson as a truck driver a few days before.

Ferguson, state's witnesses testified, entered the company office and fired one charge from a shotgun into Miller's back.

Ferguson didn't testify. Nor were there any other defense witnesses.

Circuit Judge Gus Fulk will pronounce formal sentence and fix the electrocution date.

The trial jury returned a verdict of guilty of first degree murder "as charged." Such a verdict automatically carries a death penalty.

Arkansas Sound Economically Says McMath

Little Rock, June 14 (UP)—Arkansas is economically sound, Gov. Sid McMath said today.

The candidate for reelection to the office of chief executive of the state, said that Arkansas has the most balanced economy of any state in the nation.

He added that Arkansas was the only state in the south and southwest which has operated within its budget during the last year.

"Administrative costs, on a percentage basis, are lower in Arkansas than in any state in the United States," he said.

Bushman was stricken six days ago with what veterinarians said apparently is a combination of heart disease, arthritis and advanced age. The 500-pound animal is 20 years old—about 70 by human age measurement.

Eddie Robinson, Bushman's keeper for more than 20 years, took the guava ripest of the 36, and went to the cage where Bushman lay dozing on a shelf.

Bushman eyed the yellow fruit, rolled over, took it from Robinson's hand, and popped it into his mouth without further ceremony.

He peeled it with his teeth expertly and discarded the skin, lay on his stomach, holding it in his hand and eating it in small bites.

Robinson said Bushman received only one guava because it was between feedings. The gorilla will be given three or four with each meal from now on.

Dr. Lester Fisher and Dr. Lester Young, the zoo veterinarians, said Bushman has improved a great deal since his acute attack last Thursday. The animal is more active, and his appetite is nearly normal. Last night he ate 22 pounds of fruit, break and milk.

Benton Fast Growing City Census Shows

Hot Springs, June 14 (AP)—Benton is the fastest growing city in the five-county area making up the Hot Springs census district, according to preliminary figures from the 1950 census released today by District Supervisor Ben D. Smith.

Tentative tabulations give the Saline county seat 6,263 residents, an increase of 2,761, or 30 per cent, over the 3,502 shown by the 1940 census.

Malvern, Hot Springs county, is second in rate of growth with 8,015 inhabitants, an increase of 2,745, or 32 per cent, over the 5,270 of the last decennial count.

Third place goes to Hot Springs, largest city in the area, for which preliminary figures were released Saturday. The 1950 census gives Hot Springs 29,019 residents. This is an increase of 7,629, or almost 30 per cent, over the 21,370 of 1940.

However, the census supervisor announced that 7,500 persons reside in areas immediately adjacent to Hot Springs, giving the city area a population of over 36,000.

Fordyce, Dallas county, has a population of 3,745 compared to 3,429 in 1940, while Sheridan, Grant county, has 1,883 compared to 1,338 in the last census.

All of the cities are the seats of their respective counties.

While the urban areas show an increase, two of the counties show a decrease in population since 1940. These are Dallas county with 12,388 against 14,471, and Grant with 9,000 against 10,477.

Base Point Law Up to Mr. Truman

Washington, June 14 (AP)—Friday is the deadline for President Truman to sign into law—or veto—the so-called "basing point bill" which congress passed a couple of weeks ago.

If he does nothing, it becomes law anyway.

Some big business outfits want it to become law. A number of small business organizations want Mr. Truman to veto it; yesterday 11 members of congress called on him to do just that.

They said it would create monopolies, help choke business competition, favor national chain stores and so hurt small businesses, and bring higher prices.

Friends of the bill and they were in the majority in congress, see it otherwise. They say it would help business by clearing up for businessmen some questions about government regulations and taxes.

No Break in U. S. Labor Disputes

By The Associated Press

There appeared no immediate break today in the nation's major labor disputes.

The continuing strikes: Cut deeper into scarce supplies of milk and dairy products in western Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., affecting nearly 4,000,000 persons.

Brought about the suspension of publication of the New York World-Telegram and Sun, one of the nation's biggest evening newspapers.

Forced Columbia Broadcasting system to cancel three television shows.

The World-Telegram and Sun suspended publication after a strike by the CIO American Newspaper Guild's editorial and business employees. The order to suspend publication followed refusal of AFL Mechanical Workers to cross guild picket lines.

The strike marked the first time any major general circulation New York city newspaper has had to suspend publication because of labor difficulties.

No meetings between the newspaper and the guild were scheduled. Both sides, however, are subject to call by federal mediators. Some 800 guildsmen are on strike. The mechanical unions, which include printers, pressmen and typesetters, among others, reached a mutual aid agreement with the guild last week.

Federal mediators met briefly last night with guild and management officers. A spokesman for the three-man newspaper delegation said: "We told the union there were very real possibilities that this (strike) might run for a month, six weeks, or two months."

A guild spokesman said: "We told them we were dug in for a long strike, too."

The guild demanded a 10 percent general pay raise, a $4 to $10 hike in minimum pay rates to bring the top minimum up from $11.10 to $12.10, a "nine out of ten" guild shop, a 35 hour week and other benefits.

Management offered a $2 to $5 raise, a $1 to $3.50 boost in minimums for a $11.50 top, the 35-hour week and vacation and holiday improvements. The work week now is 37 1/2 hours.

Among the Gold. The devotional was read by the hostess and the Lord's Prayer was repeated. The roll call was answered with "How I have improved my Kitchen."

Mrs. Jonny McCorkle gave a report on landscaping and Mrs. Byers was in charge of the program on kitchen arrangements. Mrs. McCorkle won the thrift garment.

During the period, Mrs. Wayne Turner and Mrs. McCorkle won the prizes. Secret pals exchanged gifts and redrew names for the next three months. Refreshments were served to 11 members and 3 visitors, Mrs. L. C. Turner, Jr., Mrs. Greeson, and Miss Laveta.

The meeting adjourned to meet next month with Mrs. Carl L. Dudley. The meeting will be held one week early next month because of a revival.

DOROTHY DIX Sure Thing

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young woman in love with my employer who is eighteen years older than I am. That is quite a difference in age, but when two people have worked together three years without misunderstandings; when they can spend eight hours a day together and still find plenty to talk and laugh about; when they like the same things; when they have reached an agreement on such matters as allowances, children, etc., and when they can give each other that feeling of safety and security don't you think they have a pretty good chance?

BETTY
Answer: Indeed I do. I think you have taken marriage out of gambling class and, like David Crockett, you may be sure you are right and go ahead. For you have eliminated most of the risks of matrimony. The first and greatest of these is the danger that a man and woman run in entering into a life contract with one with whom he or she is practically unacquainted. We laugh at the guilelessness and lack of sophistication of those who enter into games of chance with perfect strangers, but in reality they are no greater hicks or simplices than are the average bride and bridegroom who have entered matrimony with a mate of whose real character, disposition and habits they know no more than if they had never set eyes upon her or him before.

Know Each Other's Faults

But no catastrophe can happen when a man and woman have worked together side by side for a number of years. They have seen each other with the paint all off and their company manners discarded. They have seen each other in times of discouragement and stress, times of exhaustion and nerve fizzle, and each has taken the measure of the other and knows just exactly how much strength, courage, fairness and generosity and loyalty the other possesses. Hence marrying the one with whom you have worked is bound to be a preferred risk in marriage.

You have also put love to its acid test, which is daily association. We can be in love with almost anyone whom we see only occasionally and who always has the fresh interest of novelty, but it takes real love, the genuine blown-the-bottle variety, to stand daily and hourly intimate companionship and still keep its glitter and allure.

As for the difference in ages between you and your fiance, that is negligible. That only counts when one of the high contracting parties is very young and still undeveloped. After people are mature all that counts is their congeniality.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Do you think that the parents of a daughter of 15 should be so strict with her that they will not let her date on school nights, or go on picnics and parties as the rest of her friends do?

A. B.
Answer: I believe in giving young girls plenty of rope, but not enough to hang themselves with. And I certainly think that no girl of 15, or 16, or any age for that matter, should be permitted to have dates on school nights.

As long as a girl is going to school she is supposed to be getting an education that will determine the whole course of her future life. It is a crucial time with her, for if she fails to take advantage of the opportunities her parents are giving her to develop into an intelligent, well-educated woman she can never make good her loss.

To get an education requires interest and enthusiasm and determination and no girl can give these to the pursuit of knowing when she is running around at night with boys and comes sullen with lack of sleep to school, or when the only date in history that she takes the slightest interest in is her next date with Johnny. Hence the parents who let their little 15-year old daughters go to parties on any save off nights are doing the girls a deadly wrong and failing in their duty.

I don't believe in overstrict parents. I think young girls should have plenty of amusement, plenty of pleasures, plenty of boy friends but there should be a limit to their liberties. They should take their pleasures rationally and at proper times, as befits their age.

And would to heaven that there were enough parents with sufficient grit and courage and backbone to stand up and fight their self-willed youngsters and keep them under control.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am in love with a man whom I have supported for more than a year. He has been out of work and doesn't try to get a job. Although my friends warn me that no man who thinks anything of a woman would live on her for more than a year without doing anything, I am still in doubt. Sometimes it seems that for every happiness there is a price and a very great happiness would be worth a great price. Please advise me.

Answer: It is up to you to decide whether you want to set up a husband as a luxury or not. If you can afford him and think he is worth the price, marry him. A lot of men seem to consider good-for-nothing wives worth what they cost them. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Hutchinson Opposed by Virginians

Washington, June 14 (AP)—Senators Byrd and Robertson today opposed the nomination of Martin A. Hutchinson of Virginia to be a member of the federal trade commission. They contend Hutchinson is not qualified and that his appointment by President Truman was political.

The two Virginia Democratic senators said in a lengthy letter to the senate commerce committee that they feel Hutchinson "lacks judicial temperament and exhibits a blind support of public policies merely because such are advocated by certain party leaders."

Byrd and Robertson expressed opinion that "Mr. Hutchinson's nomination is political and made for a definite and obvious political purpose," and added:

"This opinion was expressed by nearly every newspaper in Virginia that made comment when the nomination was first announced."

Hutchinson, a Richmond attorney, ran unsuccessfully against

4000 Search for Prison Escape Artist

Munich, Germany, June 14 (AP)—Homer Cook, the Muskogee, Okla., prison escape artist, today eluded 4,000 rain-soaked searchers after his third jailbreak.

The day wore on without a clue to the whereabouts of the 27-year old former soldier whose love for a fraulein landed him in an army jail here to face 16 separate charges.

Commented an army spokesman ruefully: "He is big and he's fast and Byrd for the Senatorial nomination in 1948.

Neither Byrd nor Robertson appeared at the committee hearing. Robertson's letter was read. He said he considers himself qualified to do the job and that he would consider himself an arm of the congress in carrying out his duties.

Hutchinson said he believes in the free enterprise system and in as little regulation of business as possible.

In response to questions, he said he is not against any business because of its size but said he feels big corporations have a responsibility to the people and that therefore there are some problems which require regulation.

he's slippery. He is not the sort of character who likes to stay in jail."

The search centered in the vicinity of this Bavarian capital, but searchers conceded he might have boarded a train or hitched an auto ride before the hunt got organized. Thus he might be far away by now.

The manhunters included 2,000 Bavarian state police, 1,500 Munich police and about 300 American military police and highway patrolmen.

A quickly-appointed army investigating board probed painstakingly into the circumstances of his escape last night from the Munich military post stockade at Dachau. Army sources hinted somebody would have to pay for a brief lapse that enabled him to flee.

A soldier guarding a work detail that included Cook left for about three minutes to see why his relief had not arrived. That was all the time Cook needed. He was in jail here next week before an American military court. The charge was against him, include illegal entry into Germany, attempted robbery, resisting arrest, escaping jail — twice before — and posing as an American agent.

Projected 4 Point Plan Unproven

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 12 —(P)—President Truman's point four program hasn't really started yet and no one can say how far it will go, or well it will work, or where it will end.

It's been talked about for 17 months, ever since January, 1949, when Mr. Truman made his inaugural address.

At that time he mentioned a number of things he thought this country should do in a world being run by Communism.

One of them, which he called point four, had this aim: helping backward countries to a better life and more progress, faster.

How? In several ways: With training, skill and money.

We could send in American experts to show them how to grow better crops, wipe out disease, modernize education, use water power for electricity.

Then American business men could invest money in those countries. For profit, of course. But they'd be creating jobs and helping the people there.

Until recently this was all something which was talked about in congress and the newspapers, but not acted upon. But now congress has approved the idea.

As approved, the plan calls for this country to spend $35,000,000 the first year. But the approval of the idea is only just that. Congress hasn't voted the money for carrying it out.

It's expected to do that, too, although we'll have to wait to see whether congress votes the $35,000,000 or less. Then, a year from now, the whole business will have to come up in congress again.

It will be handled on a yearly basis so congress can review what's been accomplished and decide whether it will let the plan go and cut off the money or keep it going and vote more money.

About 60 nations are in line for this kind of point four help. That's there are that many which could benefit from such help. But the state department will have to decide who gets what, if any.

The plan itself is new only in the sense that it has been set up as a definite program by the President.

For years we have had a kind of point four program in Latin America. We've sent in some of our experts in farming, education, public health and other fields to help our southern neighbors.

And American business have been there. For example, in oil fields.

The United Nations, through its economic and agricultural organization, have carried out similar programs in backward countries.

In the case of the point four program, it will take years probably before the results of experts sent in this year or next can begin to show real results.

But this country is in a dilemma. The U. S. wants to stop communism which makes its appeal to people in backward countries, promising them a better and full life.

At least, that's the reasoning of Mr. Truman and of congress, too. It's approved the plan. Of course, there's always the question whose answer we won't know for some time.

Will this help be enough to stop communism? Are we starting too late? Is the plan, as it stands, big enough and broad enough, to do the job?

George Favors Liberal SS Program

Washington, June 13 —(P)—Senator George (D-Ga) said today a new liberal social security program is needed to protect additional millions of citizens and give them reasonable retirement benefits.

Chairman of the senate finance committee, he opened debate on a bill which would add nearly 10,000,000 persons to the 35,000,000 now covered by the old-age and survivors insurance system and sharply increase benefit payments.

Administration leaders are hopeful that the senate will finish with the bill early next week. It is a revised version of a measure passed by the house last October. Its enactment is a key part of the administration program.

George said that a higher level of benefits is long overdue. He said that the retirement system's benefit formula has been unchanged since 1939 "despite the sharp increase in prices and wages that have occurred since that time."

Higher benefits, together with improved expansion of coverage and easing of eligibility requirements, will help to lessen the burden on the states and the federal government for old age relief and in a prepared senate.

He said that a provision in the bill greatly liberalizing requirements for older workers is designed to shift the burden of the public assistance from the states to the federal government.

He estimated that 700,000 additional workers would be covered by the insurance system.

Strikers Can Return to ENKA Plant

Morristown, Tenn., June 13 —(P)—Striking CIO textile workers may be allowed to return pickets to the vicinity of the American Enka corporation's rayon plant today.

The pickets were removed yesterday by Tennessee Safety Commissioner Sam K. Neal. He said strikers scattered three-piercing nails and tacks on a road near the plant.

Neal met with 125 strikers and said union leaders agreed there would be no more incidents. The commissioner, heading 75 highway patrolmen sent here by Gov. Gordon Browning, said he might allow the pickets to return today.

Dynamiting, fist fights, rock-throwing and club-wielding has marked the 11-week-old strike. National guardsmen were withdrawn last week after patrolling the scene for 10 days.

A meeting at Knoxville of company and union officials with representatives of the national labor relations board failed to bring agreement on a bargaining representation election on the plant.

The CIO demanded that all on the payroll the day the strike started be eligible to vote. T. W. Iserman, Enka attorney said only employees who are now working and have not taken part in violence should vote.

The union's Tennessee director H. S. Williams, said the company's action shows "it has no intention of coming to an honorable strike settlement."

Velde called on the British government to investigate the circumstances of Miss Smedley's death last May 6.

Slavs Protest Soviet River Blockade

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, June 14 —(P)—Yugoslavia protested to the Soviet embassy here last night against a Russian blockade of Yugoslav shipping on the Danube.

At Geneva Joza Vilfan, deputy foreign minister, unsuccessfully tried to get the economic committee to get the shrinkage of trade relations between Yugoslavia and Russia and her Cominform satellites.

Vilfan said the Soviet union cut its trade completely with Yugoslavia since Premier Marshal Tito defied Russia in 1948. But other ECE delegates pointed out that Russia has made it clear it won't furnish any trade information and voted down Vilfan's request as useless.

In its formal protest note on the Danube, the Yugoslav government cited new travel regulations which it said have delayed at least five Yugoslav ships trying to go through Russian-controlled Austria upriver to the American zones of Germany and Austria.

A week ago Yugoslavia charged that Russian naval maneuvers in the Danube were blocking commercial shipping.

The Yugoslavs said the Russian restrictions violate a two year-old Danube river shipping convention. That is the treaty framed here before the Cominform break. Yugoslavia then sided with Russia in voting down American, British and French claims to any rights on the river.

Crump on Hand for Opening of Bridge

Crump, a political leader here, was joined by several members of the bridge commission and city officials in lifting the barricade which turned traffic to detour routes.

Crump was chairman of the bridge commission.

death certificate was made out after a post mortem carried out by one of the outstanding pathologists at Oxford. He said everything was in order. The certificate said the cause of death was broncho-pneumonia, acute cardiac failure and a partial gastrectomy.

At the time of her death the hospital did not announce the cause, which in Britain is considered private information to be given only to the next of kin.

Miss Smedley in February, 1949, denounced as a lie a statement in a U. S. army report that she was a Soviet government agent in Shanghai. The army later retracted the charges and said it had no proof to substantiate them.

Mao Outlines Plan for Red China

Tokyo, June 13 —(P)—Radio Peiping today quoted Mao Tze-tung, China's No. 1 Communist, as outlining a broad plan calling for demobilization of his armed might, land reforms and temporary retention of what is left of the capitalist system in China.

The broadcast said Mao made the speech to delegates attending the Chinese Communists' third annual party convention in Peiping June 6-9.

Mao was quoted as saying some of the millions of Chinese soldiers under arms would be demobilized this year. Enough will be retained, he said, to liberate Formosa from Nationalist Chinese, Tibet from the monks who rule that mountainous, Asian land, and to control "anti-revolutionaries" in China.

The Chinese leader cautioned that the danger of a third world war was still present and saw friction and internal strife developing "among capitalist nations and capitalist classes."

"Some people (Communists) think this is possible," he was quoted by the radio, "but such thinking is wrong and not fitting in the current Chinese situation."

"China will have to go through a controlled economy in order to achieve resuscitation and the development of social economy."

Mao said three objectives must be realized "for the fundamental improvement of national finance and economy."

He listed them as land reform, nationalization of commerce and industry and reduction of state expenditures.

It will take three years or longer to attain these ends he said.

Times-Picayune Named in Anti-Trust Suit

Washington, June 14 —(P)—Attorney General McGrath today announced he has filed a civil anti-trust suit against the Times-Picayune Publishing Co. of New Orleans, charging monopolistic practices.

He said the suit, filed in the U. S. District court at New Orleans, accuses the company and four of its officers and employees "with combining and conspiring to restrain and monopolize commerce in newspapers, in the dissemination of news and advertising, and in supplies, and with entering into unlawful contracts with advertisers."

The announcement said those named in the suit, in addition to the company, are L. K. Nicholson, president of the company; John F. Tims, Jr., its vice president and business manager; Aubrey F. Murray, advertising director; and Donald W. Coleman, circulation manager.

Republicans Take Political Spotlight

By The Associated Press
In a two-day convention this week, Connecticut Republicans pick a slate of candidates for what may be one of the nation's hardest fought political battles next November.

Involved in the Connecticut battling Wednesday and Thursday will be two seats that might well decide whether the Democrats are to continue to control — or the Republicans take over — the senate in the 82nd congress.

Also at stake in the November test will be whatever presidential or vice presidential ambitions Democratic Gov. Chester Bowles may be nourishing.

Although the advance picture is clouded, the race for the GOP nomination oppose Bowles seems to lie between Rep. John Davart, Conn., GOP national committeeman.

Bowles is certain of renomination at the state's democratic convention July 28 and 29. Senators Brien McMahon and William Benton, the latter an appointee of Bowles to replace a Republican, are scheduled to get the senatorial nominations.

Connecticut Republicans regard Joseph E. Talbot of Naugatuck, former house member, as the likely nominee to oppose McMahon. They give the edge to Prescott S. Bush of Greenwich, former head of the United Service organizations, as the likely opponent for Benton.

Republicans sorely need to pick up two senate seats in Connecticut if they are to make a net gain of seven to give them control of the senate, where they now are outnumbered 54 to 42 by the Democrats.

The resignation of former Senator Raymond Baldwin to take a state court appointment by Bowles cost them one Connecticut seat.

Benton's defeat will be the chief objective of their drive, although they also hope to knock off McMahon. The Republicans are out to get Bowles, if they can, for they recognize in him a possible contender for Democratic presidential or vice presidential honors in 1952.

With no primaries scheduled during the week, New York's political situation will share interest with that of Connecticut.

In New York, the Republicans still are waiting to find out whether Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will run for a third term. Dewey hasn't said yes and he hasn't said no, but national leaders would regard it something of a calamity if he decides not to run.

They apparently think that only Dewey might be able to carry along to victory a republican senatorial nominee over Senator Lehman (D-LibNY).

If Dewey runs, the Washington assumption is that he will name his senatorial candidate-colleague. If he doesn't run, GOP members here say there will be such a scramble for the senatorial job as hasn't been seen recently.

If Dewey doesn't run, most Republicans here think that Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley will get the nomination.

New York Democrats also are up in the air over their candidate for governor.

Some of them have been flirting with the idea of fitting Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (D-LibNY) in the spot. But others don't like the idea of running two Roosevelts for governor in the same year.

James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late president, thus may have stolen a march on his younger brother by winning the Democratic nomination for governor of California.

Dynamiting, fist fights, rock-throwing and club-wielding has marked the 11-week-old strike. National guardsmen were withdrawn last week after patrolling the scene for 10 days.

A meeting at Knoxville of company and union officials with representatives of the national labor relations board failed to bring agreement on a bargaining representation election on the plant.

The CIO demanded that all on the payroll the day the strike started be eligible to vote. T. W. Iserman, Enka attorney said only employees who are now working and have not taken part in violence should vote.

The union's Tennessee director H. S. Williams, said the company's action shows "it has no intention of coming to an honorable strike settlement."

Writer Died of Natural Causes

London, June 13 (P)—The death of Agnes Smedley, 56 year old American writer on China, occurred two days after she was operated on for stomach ulcers, an informed source said here last night. She was a native of Mississippi.

The source gave out this information after Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill) said in Peoria, Ill., that he believed Miss Smedley was liquidated to stop her from testifying on Soviet spying before the U. S. un-American activities committee.

Velde called on the British government to investigate the circumstances of Miss Smedley's death last May 6.

George Favors Liberal SS Program

Washington, June 13 —(P)—Senator George (D-Ga) said today a new liberal social security program is needed to protect additional millions of citizens and give them reasonable retirement benefits.

Chairman of the senate finance committee, he opened debate on a bill which would add nearly 10,000,000 persons to the 35,000,000 now covered by the old-age and survivors insurance system and sharply increase benefit payments.

Administration leaders are hopeful that the senate will finish with the bill early next week. It is a revised version of a measure passed by the house last October. Its enactment is a key part of the administration program.

George said that a higher level of benefits is long overdue. He said that the retirement system's benefit formula has been unchanged since 1939 "despite the sharp increase in prices and wages that have occurred since that time."

Higher benefits, together with improved expansion of coverage and easing of eligibility requirements, will help to lessen the burden on the states and the federal government for old age relief and in a prepared senate.

He said that a provision in the bill greatly liberalizing requirements for older workers is designed to shift the burden of the public assistance from the states to the federal government.

He estimated that 700,000 additional workers would be covered by the insurance system.

Strikers Can Return to ENKA Plant

Morristown, Tenn., June 13 —(P)—Striking CIO textile workers may be allowed to return pickets to the vicinity of the American Enka corporation's rayon plant today.

The pickets were removed yesterday by Tennessee Safety Commissioner Sam K. Neal. He said strikers scattered three-piercing nails and tacks on a road near the plant.

Neal met with 125 strikers and said union leaders agreed there would be no more incidents. The commissioner, heading 75 highway patrolmen sent here by Gov. Gordon Browning, said he might allow the pickets to return today.
